FOREWORD

This manual implements the policy set forth in Secretary of the Navy Instruction (SECNAVINST) 5210.8D, Department of the Navy Records Management Program, 31 December 2005 regarding Standard Subject Identification Codes (SSIC) and is issued under the authority of SECNAVINST 5430.7N, Assignment of Responsibilities and Authorities in the Office of the Secretary of the Navy, 9 June 2005. SECNAVINST 5210.11D, Department of the Navy File Maintenance procedures and Standard Subject Identification Codes, 20 October 1987 was cancelled by separate administrative action.

This Manual specifies filing and record maintenance procedures and provides Standard Subject Identification Codes (SSIC) for the Department of the Navy (DON). SSICs are the standard system of numbers and letter symbols used throughout the DON for categorizing Departmental records by subject. SSICs serve as the taxonomy for all Departmental records.

This Manual is effective immediately; it is mandatory and applicable to the Offices of the Secretary of the Navy, The Chief of Naval Operations (CNO), the Commandant of the Marine Corps (CMC), and all Navy and Marine Corps activities, installations, commands, ships, and stations.

This manual may be accessed through the Department of the Navy, Navy Electronic Directives System website: <http://neds.daps.dla.mil/>. For further assistance or to offer comments and recommendation concerning this manual, contact the offices delineated below:

Introduction

1. This manual delineates the process for segregating and filing Navy and Marine Corps records and provides the standard system of numbers and letter symbols used throughout the Department of the Navy to categorize and classify Navy and Marine Corps records. A standard subject identification code (SSIC) is required on all Department of the Navy records including, but not limited to, letters, messages, directives, forms and reports. Only approved SSIC numbers will be assigned; however, expansion of the system for filing purposes is authorized following the procedures contained in Chapter 3 of this manual.

A significant and ever increasing portion of the Department's records are created, used, and/or stored electronically. The requirement to assign an SSIC applies to any record regardless of its format and medium.

This manual is to be used in conjunction with SECNAV Manual M-5210-1, Department of the Navy records Management Manual. The records management manual describes specific DON records and provides disposition schedules for them.

2. Definition of a Navy Record. In order to determine which items should receive an SSIC, Department of the Navy personnel must be able to determine which materials are records. The use of Standard Subject Identification Codes is the only approved means to number, segregate, symbolize, and file Departmental records.

As defined in statute, records include all books, papers, maps, photographs, machine readable materials, or other documentary materials, regardless of physical form or characteristics, made or received by an agency of the United States Government under Federal law or in connection with the transaction of public business and preserved or appropriate for preservation by that agency or its legitimate successor as evidence of the organization, functions, policies, decisions, procedures, operations, or other activities of the Government or because of the informational value of data in them. Library and museum material made or acquired and preserved solely for reference or exhibition purposes, extra copies of documents preserved only for convenience of reference, and stocks of publications and of processed documents are not included. (44 USC §3301)

Several key terms, phrases, and concepts in the statutory definition of records are defined in National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) Regulation (36 CFR § 1222.12) as follows:

“Documentary materials” is a collective term for records, nonrecord materials, and personal papers that refers to all media containing recorded information, regardless of the nature of the media or the method(s) or circumstance(s) of recording.

“Regardless of physical form or characteristics” means that the medium may be paper, film, disk, or other physical type or form; and that the method of recording may be manual, mechanical, photographic, electronic, or any other combination of these other technologies.

“Made” means the act of creating and recording information by agency personnel in the course of their official duties, regardless of the method(s) or the medium involved. The act of recording is generally identifiable by the circulation of the information to others or by placing it in files accessible to others.

“Received” means the acceptance or collection of documentary materials by agency personnel in the course of their official duties regardless of their origin (for example, other units of their agency, private citizens, public officials, other agencies, contractors, Government grantees) and regardless of how transmitted (in person or by messenger, mail, electronic means, or by any other method). In this context, the term does not refer to misdirected materials. It may or may not refer to loaned or seized materials depending on the conditions under which such materials came into agency custody or were used by the agency. Advice of legal counsel should be sought regarding the “record” status of loaned or seized materials.

“Preserved” means the filing, storing, or any other method of systematically maintaining documentary materials by the agency. This term covers materials not only actually filed or otherwise systematically maintained but also those temporarily removed from existing filing systems.

“Appropriate for preservation” means documentary materials made or received which in the judgment of the agency should be filed, stored, or otherwise systematically maintained by an agency because of the evidence of agency activities or information they contain, even though the materials may not be covered by its current filing or maintenance procedures.

3. Record Series. A series is the basic unit for organizing and controlling files. It is a group of files or documents kept together (either physically or intellectually) because they relate to a particular subject or function, result from the same activity, document a specific type of transaction, take a particular physical form, or have some other relationship arising out of their creation, receipt, maintenance, or use (36 CFR 1220.14).

Programs should organize documents in order to facilitate management of records throughout their life cycle. For example, record series kept in paper copies should be physically separated from other record series. Electronic records should be managed in ways that link records to their disposition authority, within the context of a record keeping system. (Electronic records management applications must be certified in accordance with DOD 5015.2-STD, “Design Criteria Standard for Electronic Records Management Software Applications,” June 19, 2002.

The Department of the Navy uses the SSIC system to establish and identify record series. Each record series must be scheduled for appropriate disposition. The Department of the Navy’s disposition authority is found in the SECNAV Manual M-5210-1, The Department of the Navy Records Management Manual.

4. Records File Plan. A file plan is an organizational scheme for how records are organized. The plan specifies the identifying number, title or description, and disposition authority of files held in an organization. A file plan allows users to select categories in which records are filed and assign records to these categories. A plan allows users to add, edit and delete file categories or file folders. Within the DON, the SSIC provides the basis for organizational file plans.

SECNAV M-52 10.2

DECEMBER 2005

FILING PROCEDURES

1. Background. The size and complexity of the Navy demands standard methods for filing records. Standardization frees personnel from learning new filing systems when moving from one activity to another.
2. Filing procedures. To maintain files effectively and economically follow these procedures.
 - a. File Location and Control. Maintain a central control of activity files. Your central control should:
 - (1) Assign personnel to coordinate all activity files.
 - (2) Authorize official files and assign responsibility for files plans.
 - (3) Locate the official files at an organizational level that ensures effective documentation, makes record accessible to major users, minimizes duplicate files and aids records disposal.
 - (4) Determine records retention and disposal standards using SECNAV M-5210.1, The Department of Navy Records Management Manual, apply to each file category, and prepare local disposal instructions.
 - (5) Perform periodic reviews of the files procedures.
 - b. File Material. Do not include unnecessary working documents, early drafts, extra copies, or background information as part of the file material. Include the following:
 - (1) Incoming Documents
 - (2) Copy of outgoing correspondence
 - (3) Any essential supporting documents
 - c. File Plan. Each activity shall create a file plan. This file plan at the very least will contain a list of record categories held onboard the command and their SSIC. The plan will also include the disposition date of each records file, record type, and/or group.
 - d. Vital Records. The command will also identify which records are Vital Records as part of their Vital Records Plan. The plan shall be reviewed annually. See SECNAV Manual M-5210.1 Appendix (H) for further guidance on the Vital Records Program.
3. Cross-referencing. When a document concerns more than one subject, name or case, file an extra copy under each subject and give the location of the basic document on each copy. If extra copies are not available, use a Cross Reference (DD2861) available online at <http://www.dtic.mil/whs/directives/infomgt/forms/formsprogram.htm>. (Note GSA Form OF(21) was cancelled.)

4. Charging out Files. Keep track of all documents removed from files. When entire file is removed, put a charge out slip in its place. If the document is transferred among several people update the charge out slips.

5. Closing Files. Many record categories have a cut off date. To cut off records means to break, or end, them at regular intervals to permit their disposal or transfer in complete blocks to permit the establishment of new files. For example general correspondence files are cut off and closed at the end of each calendar year. Other files, most often case files, stay current until the documented action ends or some other event occurs. Hold closed files locally in an inactive status until destruction or transfer to Federal Records Center using the standards found in SECNAV Manual M-5210.1, The Department of the Navy Records Management Manual.

Construction of Standard Subject Identification Code (SSIC)

1. SSICs Required. A SSIC is a four or five digit number that stands for the subject of a document. SSICs are required on all Navy and Marine Corps letters, messages, directives, forms and reports regardless of medium. The use of SSICs provides a tested method for filing documents consistently and retrieving them quickly. SSIC is the system the DON uses to meet the requirements of 36 C.F.R. § 1222.50.

2. SSICs. The Navy SSIC system is divided into 13 major subject groups.

1000-1999 Military Personnel

Includes subjects relating solely to the administration of military personnel. Civilian personnel subjects are included in the 12000 series. General personnel subjects relating to both civilian and military personnel are included in the 5000 series.

2000-2999 Telecommunications

Includes subjects relating to general communication matters and to communication systems and equipment.

3000-3999 Operations and Readiness

Includes subjects related to such matters as operational plans, fleet operations, operational training and readiness, warfare techniques, operational intelligence, research and development, and geophysical and hydrographic support.

4000-4999 Logistics

Includes subjects relating to the logistical support of the Navy and Marine Corps, including procurement, supply control, property redistribution and disposal, travel and transportation, maintenance, construction and conversion, production and mobilization planning, and foreign military assistance.

5000-5999 General Administration and Management

Includes subjects relating to the administration, organization, and management of the Department of the Navy, including general personnel matters (concerning both civilian and military personnel), records management programs, security, external and internal relations, audiovisual management, law and legal matters, office services, office automation, and publication and printing matters.

6000-6999 Medicine and Dentistry

Including subject relating to medical matters such as physical fitness, general medicine, special or preventive medicine, dentistry, and medical equipment and supplies.

7000-7999 Financial Management

Includes subjects relating to the financial administration of the Department of the Navy, including budgeting, disbursing, accounting, auditing, contract auditing, industrial and other special financing matters, and statistical reporting.

8000-8999 Ordnance Material

Includes subjects relating to all types of ordnance material and weapons, including ammunition and explosives, guided missiles of all types, nuclear weapons, fire control and optics, combat vehicles, underwater ordnance materials, and miscellaneous ordnance equipment.

9000-9999 Ships Design and Material

Includes subjects relating to such matters as the design and characteristics of ships, and to ships material and equipment.

10000-10999 General Material

Includes subjects relating to general categories of materials not included in the specialized material groups. It includes personnel material, general machinery and tools, audiovisual equipment and accessories, and miscellaneous categories including metals, fuels, building materials, electrical and electronic categories, and diving and hyperbaric systems equipment.

11000-11999 Facilities and Activities Ashore

Includes subjects relating to ashore structures and facilities, fleet facilities, transportation facilities, heavy equipment, utilities and services, and other similar subjects.

12000-12999 Civilian Personnel

Includes subjects relating solely to the administration of civilian personnel. (Military personnel subjects are included in the 1000 series. General personnel subjects relating to both civilian and military personnel are included in the 5000 series.)

13000-13999 Aeronautical and Astronautical Material

Includes subjects relating to aeronautical and astronautical material, including parts, accessories, and instruments; special devices; armament; aerological equipment, weapons systems, types of aircraft; and astronautic vehicles.

3. These major subject groups are further divided into primary, secondary and tertiary subdivisions. The last three digits of an SSIC number designate subject levels. For example, here are three subdivisions under General Administration and Management, whose major subject group code is 5000 - 5999.

General Categories use zeros

5000 - General Administrations and Management

This is an example of a primary subject

5200 - General Management Programs and Techniques

The last two digits designate a secondary subject

5210 - Records Management

The last digit reflects a tertiary subject

5211 - Filing, Maintenance, Protection, Retrieval, and Privacy Act Systems

Some subject groups are not subdivided further than the primary level. However, other groups are divided into many secondary and tertiary subjects. It depends on the complexity of the primary subject.

3. Assigning the right SSIC to a document. When you create a record, include the SSIC that most closely describes that record's subject. When assigning a code, consider the document's subject, its purpose or significance, and the code used for similar documents.
4. Arranging files by SSIC. When you close one year's files and start new files, make up files for the SSICs that are likely to occur most often, add new folders later as documents with new SSICs need filing. The SSIC list in Section I provides divisions sufficient for most activities to keep their files manageable. Larger activities may need to supplement this directive using guidance from SECNAV Manual M-5210.1, The department of the Navy Records Management Manual. This manual provides subdivisions to a much lower level. When subdividing SSICs at the local level, you may add Standard Naval Distribution List (SNDL) codes and office codes to SSICs. Also, additional numbers, words, or combinations of numbers and words to further subdivide records to make them easier to file, find or relate to command function. The command may add disposal requirements to the file folder.

5. Examples.

5216/24D2 (SSIC with SNDL code only)

5215/FA6/JAX (SSIC with SNDL code and Geographical location)

6240/A5/BUMED (SSIC with SNDL code plus activity abbreviation)

1050/29E1/FFG25 (SSIC with SNDL code plus ships hull number)

1050/29E1/FFG25/Temp Record 7yrs (SSIC with SNDL code, ship's hull number, and identification as a temporary record to be destroyed after 7 years)

1050/29E1/FFG25/Permanent (SSIC with SNDL code plus, ship's hull number, and identification as a permanent record)

These are just a few examples of labels that can be used to file records in both paper and electronic formats. In addition, ensure that plain language names are also on labels. Marine Corps activities use MCO 5210.11D, Records Management Program for the Marine Corps for record labeling instructions.

CHAPTER 3

Guidelines for Requesting Changes

1. Submit recommendations for SSIC changes (additions, deletions and modification) to:

Director of Navy Records CNO/DNS-5
720 Kennon Street S.E. Bldg 36 Room 203
Washington Navy Yard
Washington DC, 20374-5074

Marine Corps activities submit via:
Commandant of the Marine Corps
Headquarters Marine Corps, United States Marine Corps
Code ARDB, Room 1212
2 Navy Annex
Washington D. C. 20380-1775

2. Provide the following information

- a. Current SSIC number (for deletions and modifications)
- b. Recommended SSIC number (for deletions and modifications)
- c. Current Subject (for deletions and modifications)
- d. Recommended Subject (for additions and modifications)

3. Use the following guidelines when considering a change to an existing number, a deletion, or new number.

- a. Any subject that has relevance to a large segment of the DON may be recommended provided it does not duplicate or identify too closely with existing, related subjects.

- b. Review SECNAV Manual M-5212, The Department of the Navy records Management Manual, for current SSICs and their disposition before recommending a new SSIC.

- c. Accurately identify a proper placement of new subjects by ensuring that the functional major subject grouping, primary subject grouping, secondary subject grouping and tertiary number are all in logical function sequence.

- d. Narrative subject titles should be functionally descriptive, have broad definition and be stated concisely.

- e. If a numerical code is deleted, the number cannot be used for a different narrative subject.
